

POLICE ADVANCE FOUL PLAY THEORY

Officials at Peru Working on Theory That William Wallace Was Murdered.

BROTHER WILL INVESTIGATE

Charles Wallace Goes to Indianapolis To Find Out Further Particulars About Trip.

The police at Peru are still working on the theory that William Wallace, formerly of this city who was found dead along the C. & O. tracks Wednesday morning, was a victim of foul play. Charles Wallace went to Indianapolis this morning to make an investigation and will go to Peru this evening where the case will be given further consideration. He believes that his brother was murdered and will make every effort to ascertain the truth and to bring the guilty parties to justice if they can be located. A dispatch from Peru states that the latest developments point to the theory of foul play. Charles Wallace has already made some preliminary investigation and has found that his brother had made arrangements to leave Indianapolis Monday evening preceding the alleged murder and had formed his wife that he would meet her in Chicago on Thursday. It has been found that Wallace had about $15 with him when he left Indianapolis. He also carried a watch with him valued at about $60, some jewelry and some valuable papers. He said that he could not account for the fact that William Wallace came into Peru from the east, although it was possible that he had taken the route through Ellettsville or Marion.

Although the police have given considerable attention to the case, they are still in the dark as to how the dead man reached the C. & O. tracks, and it is said that they have some pretty good clues but do not believe it is yet time to make them public.

When found the head was severed from the body and the right arm was crushed about midway between the elbow and the shoulder and the right leg, immediately under the right arm, was also badly mutilated. The left arm was lacerated from the elbow to the wrist and there were a number of bruises about the feet and legs and several deep scalp wounds in the top of the dismembered head. The body was found about twelve feet from the tracks while the head was discovered lying between the two rails.

Wallace's hat and shoes were missing when the body was found and have not yet been located. It was first believed that he had walked from the train while asleep but an investigation shows that his hat and shoes were not on the train.

When the body was found the clothing was searched and a dozen coupon tickets good on the Indianapolis street car lines, $3.05 in money, some insurance books and receipts showing that he was a member of the Seymour Aerie of Eagles No. 655 were found.

It is said that the man's clothing was burned by the undertaker before the coroner could make an investigation and Charles Wallace intends to find out just why the clothing was destroyed.

Wallace was not accustomed to riding on the trains without paying his fare, and as he had considerable money with him at the time he left Indianapolis, there is no evidence to support the theory that he was not a passenger upon the train. The supposition which is given considerable weight is that Wallace was probably murdered and robbed and that the murderers placed his body upon the track in order to cover up the crime.

Charles Wallace will make every investigation possible in order to find out the real facts concerning the death of his brother, and this morning as he was leaving for Indianapolis said that he was hopeful that some valuable evidence could be obtained.

WEATHER BUREAU REPORTS TEMPERATURE OF 95 DEGREES

Mercury Climbs to The Third Highest Point Recorded During The Summer.

The records today of Local Weather Observer J. Robert Blair, show that the thermometer reached ninety-five degrees, which is the third highest temperature recorded this summer. On account of the humidity the heat during the day has been very oppressive, and many persons have declared that the heat was more noticeable than any day during the summer. No one has been overcome in this vicinity, although in several places in southern Indiana prostrations have been reported.

A heavy rain fell near Uniontown Sunday, although none was registered here. During the summer the rain has been most unusual as several places have been visited by several heavy showers while in other places close by the fields were in need of moisture and the roads were several inches in dust. The warm nights have been very helpful to the corn fields, and the farmers declare that with a few more good rains and several days and nights of high temperature one of the greatest corn crops in the history of Jackson county will be harvested.

Return Home.

The Blish boys returned home about 8 o'clock Saturday evening from their motor trip to Valparaiso where they went last Wednesday, accompanied by their mother and Miss Edna Doane. They brought Miss Grace Doane home with them from the college at that place, where she was one of the 350 graduates last Thursday. The round trip was 515 miles as shown by the speedometer and their route took them through 13 Indiana counties. However, the boys still think old Jackson is the best one to live in, although they agree that there were others which were better to motor in. For instance, they found a stretch of 20 miles running into Crownpoint that was of the very best asphalt construction, fully up to anything seen in a city. This is a regular speedway for automobiles and there are many machines constantly on the road. The boys could not resist the temptation of putting their own little Flanders to its metal and for the space of a few minutes, or as long as their mother would let them, they had the speedometer needle pointing to 50 miles per hour.

Frank Stone caught his hand between two cog wheels at a machine at the Woolen Mills Saturday afternoon, and it was quite painfully crushed and bruised. It will be several days before he can resume his work.

WILL ATTEND FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY OF COMPANY

Captain Charles W. White, Visits Peter Platter on Way to Soldiers' Reunion.

Captain Charles W. White of Saginaw, Mo., is in the city today visiting his brother-in-law, Peter Platter. Captain White saw three years service in the civil war and is on his way to Lawrenceburg where he will attend the fiftieth anniversary of the Eighty-third Indiana Regiment of which he was a member. He enlisted in Company F and after serving nine months as a private was promoted to the rank of second lieutenant, and after occupying that position for two months served as captain until the close of the war. Although he is almost seventy-eight years of age he is unusually active for a man of his years and says that he is still a young man.

Captain White saw considerable active service during the war. He said that of his company there were only thirteen veterans living last year but did not expect that there would be that number present at the fiftieth anniversary.

In speaking of the war he said that he was proud that the nation had again been united and that the Confederate soldiers as well as the Union veterans were always ready to defend the flag as shown by those who enlisted during the Spanish-American war.

CARNIVAL PEOPLE AFTER THE BEST

Refuse to Accept Locations At The Brownstown Home Coming and Leave Town.

PLAN TO COME TO SEYMOUR

Entertainment Committee Would Not Concede Requests and Start Out After Another Company.

The Home Coming plans at Brownstown were up in the air this morning because of a controversy between the Carnival Company and the members of the entertainment committee. The Home Coming will be held from August 21 to the 24th inclusive. One of the principal features of the entertainment was a large carnival company which arrived this morning at the manager desired to pitch the tents upon one of the principal streets. The entertainment committee declared that they had reserved the best location for outside stands and intended to place the carnival company on the side streets.

The manager of the traveling show objected to this arrangement and informed the committee that unless his company and the men who came with him were given the good location they would not unload their equipment. After some discussion the committee stood pat on their first plan and the carnival company announced that they would not remain and would come to Seymour.

Harry Wallace, a member of the arrangement committee, went to Logosote this morning to engage another carnival company, which was said to have an open date this week, and it is believed that satisfactory arrangements can be made with it.

It was rumored at Brownstown today that if satisfactory arrangements could not be made with the company at Logosote, the Home Coming would be postponed until some future date when another company could be secured. The people of Brownstown have made big preparations for the Home Coming, and the persons who intended to conduct refreshment stands have laid in large supplies of popcorn, ice cream cones and various brands of soft drinks. Those who intended to erect stands were of course desirous of coming to an agreement with the carnival company rather than postpone the event while a number of people who were opposed to the carnival showing at Brownstown were not at all disheartened over the failure to come to an agreement.

It is generally believed that satisfactory arrangements can be made either with the company on the grounds or with the Logosote company and that the Home Coming will be held as first planned.

Home Course In Road Making

II.—Advantages of Improved Roads.

By LOGAN WALLER PAGE,
Director Office of Public Roads,
United States Department of Agriculture.

Copyright by American Press Association, 1912.

NO road is as expensive as a bad road. We spend about $100,000,000 a year on our roads, and they are costing us in addition a bad roads tax of at least $200,000,000 annually. It actually costs the average farmer as much to haul a bushel of wheat from his farm to the railroad as it does to ship it from New York to Liverpool, 3,100 miles. The loss to the people of the United States annually on account of bad roads would more than pay for their general and widespread improvement. The burden of bad roads bears heavily upon the shoulders of the entire people, for such roads diminish the profits of the farmer because he must haul fewer loads, make fewer trips and market his products when the roads are passable and not when prices are best. They are a burden which compels the consumer in the city to pay heavily, not to swell the farmer's earnings, but to help the farmer to pay the money value of the absolute waste of energy and property due to bad roads.

There would be an immediate and tangible saving by road improvement in reducing the cost of hauling. How much this saving would amount to in dollars and cents would depend upon the character and extent of the improvement and the amount of traffic passing over the road.

In 1903 the railroads of the United States hauled about 800,000,000 tons of freight originating on the respective railroads. Of this amount about 265,000,000 tons represented agricultural, forest and miscellaneous products, all of which moved over the country roads at initial or terminal points or both.

The average haul from farms to shipping points in the United States is about one and one-quarter miles. The average cost of hauling on the country roads is about 23 cents per ton per mile. The total cost of hauling 265,000,000 tons would therefore be about $16 per ton, or a total of $4,242,500,000.

The possibilities of saving by the improvement of the roads may be understood when we compare the cost of hauling in Germany, France and England with the cost of hauling in this country. The average in these three countries is about 10 cents per ton per mile and in many cases it is as low as 7 cents. If we cut the rate in the United States exactly in half by the improvement of our main roads we would still be 1½ cents over the average for the three European countries named. If we could do this it follows that our annual saving would be in the neighborhood of $250,000,000 on hauling alone.

The wear and tear on horses and vehicles due to bad roads may seem a trivial matter until we take into consideration the fact that there are about 25,000,000 horses and mules in the United States, valued at $2,770,000,000, and about 1,500,000 carriages, buggies and wagons, valued at about $83,000,000. If by the improvement of the roads the vehicles would last one year longer and if one-tenth of the amount paid out for repairs were saved the resultant gain would run far into the millions.

Property is much more valuable on an improved road than on an unimproved road. This increase in the value of the land adjacent to the improved road has been sufficient in many cases to pay for the improvement. An effort has been made to estimate the general increase in land values due to improved roads, and the average has been placed at somewhere between $2 and $5 per acre. There are positively thousands of examples where farms have been sold at an increase of from $50 to $100 per acre over their value before improvement.

Improvement recently made in the roads of the United States shows that there are sixteen million acres of land in the United States that are now worth more than they were ten years ago. The roads are the main factor in this increase.

improved, while there are forty-five agricultural counties that have more than 10 per cent improved. The average price of farm lands in the sixteen counties, according to the report of the United States census, was $48.50 per acre, while the average price of land in the forty-five counties was $65.79 per acre. In other words, the average price of farm lands in the good road counties was $17.29, or 35 per cent more than in the poor road counties. When we consider the fact that there are 873,000,000 acres of farm lands in the United States the possibilities along this line are rather startling. Even assuming that the land would be increased only $5 an acre the total enhancement on farm lands alone would be $4,365,000,000.

Improved roads will yield an additional income by enabling the farmer to cultivate with profit land which otherwise would be less profitably employed.

There are about 400,000,000 acres of unimproved farm land in the United States. An average annual profit of 50 cents an acre on this land would mean a net gain to the wealth of the United States of $200,000,000 a year.

Truck products and small fruits must be delivered quickly to market if any profit is to be realized. Truck and small fruit farms cannot be maintained with profit if a long haul over bad roads intervenes between them and the railroad station. A network of first class hard smooth roads will almost immediately increase the number of truck, fruit and dairy farms in any community. While the average value of wheat per acre is only $7.03 and corn $8.72, the average value of vegetables per acre is about $40 and of small fruits $80.

There is a steady trend of population from the country to the city, and this may be attributed to some extent to bad roads. During the ten year period 1890-1900 the cities gained 2,174,000 more people than the country. In 1890 only 16.1 per cent of the population lived in cities, in 1900 the city population represented about 31 per cent of the total, and now it is probably about 45 per cent.

With hundreds of millions of acres of land uncultivated we have the spectacle of hundreds of thousands of human beings crowded into the cities, while year after year the human tide rolls restlessly in from the country to furnish more consumers and decrease the number of producers.

To prove that a relation exists between the question of population and roads the following illustration may be cited:

In twenty-five counties selected from eastern, southern, western and north-western states it has been found that only 1½ per cent of roads were improved in 1904. These same counties show an actual decrease in population averaging 3.112 for each county for the ten year period 1890-1900. Twenty-five other counties located in the same states containing 40 per cent of improved roads show an actual increase in population for each county of 31.095.

Whether good roads cause good schools, or vice versa, it is true that they exist together and that one of the most important reasons for their improvement is their effect on school attendance in the country. If the country schools are to have a maximum efficiency in training and instruction the children must be afforded facilities for reaching them. With improved roads the graded school and the consolidated school will replace the little one room one teacher schools so prevalent in many sections of the country.

The possibilities of a region of improved roads are made apparent by many examples of schools which operate wagons regularly, which gather up the pupils and carry them to and from school. When the roads are placed in such condition as to make this practice general a tremendous impetus will be given to education in the United States.

To illustrate this phase of the subject the following example may be cited: In five states conspicuous for their good roads there was in 1904 an average school attendance of 77.13 per cent, while in five other states having exceptionally bad roads the average was only 59.16 per cent. Furthermore, it has been ascertained that in the five states having an exceptionally high percentage of improved roads the white illiterates formed only three-quarters of 1 per cent of the total population, while in the five states which showed a scarcely appreciable amount of road improvement the white illiterates formed

SEEK ONLY REAL BARGAINS BORDERS ALWAYS IN FAVOR

Indiscriminate Buying Because Things Are Cheap Is Simply a Silly Error.

The enticements of the stores in late summer need self-control and common sense if bargains are to prove profitable.

There are certain things safe to buy, others that are waste of money. Ultra styles are to be avoided, unless so perishable that the remaining weeks of the season will wear them out. Buying them for next year is folly. This is especially true of hats.

Chiffon, marquisette and crepe de chine frocks that are simple in style are a safe purchase, as they are invaluable for house and theater gowns.

If one wears the same make and kind of shoe each season, this is a good time to buy several pairs of pumps, tennis shoes and low walking shoes. They are much reduced and one's shoe bill can be cut in half by buying in off seasons.

Summer dress materials are also a good bargain. There are certain standard materials and designs that are never out of style. Irish lace in narrow widths, Valenciennes by the piece and blind embroidery are always in order and can be picked up now cheaply.

This is the harvest time of the economical housekeeper. Table and bed linen, kitchen utensils, china, glass, rugs and carpets are reduced in mid-summer. To buy now means saving nearly half the value.

One woman who has furniture that seems far handsomer than her income warrants, buys it a piece at a time, so she can get something really good, and does that buying in the off season. If you have a new house to furnish, now is the time.—Kansas City Star.

Skirt Widths.

Much has been heard regarding fuller skirts for suits next season, says the Dry Goods Economist. The skirt now being made is a happy medium between a full skirt and the very narrow one in vogue a year ago. This will no doubt be the popular width for fall and winter. It is still made to give the straight, narrow lines, but has enough fullness to permit of perfect freedom in walking. A few plaits are introduced in a clever manner in the back, front or sides, but are pressed or stitched so as not to give any flare.

Jeweled Ornaments.

The favorite jewelry ornament and the one that is above all beautiful is undoubtedly the pearl necklace, either long or short. The low cut corsage favors the return of this prettiest of fashions and makes the old world liking for the narrow black velvet choker apparent once more. The black velvet choker is the latest fashion, and the same who throw into relief the whiteness of the throat.

At This Time Much Originality Has Been Expended in Designs Put Forth for Popularity.

There is fascination in the summer bordered materials of nino, cashmere and marquisette, and every class of voile or delaine is being made up with a border of much originality and greater prettiness. All these bordered stuffs are made with an eye to the design of the gown and its style and purpose, and the result is seen in many smart and apparently exclusive costumes.

The skirt may be made in two tiers of spotted material, each tier having a wide band of some beautiful pattern, while the same pattern appears to form a corselet, the upper part and sleeves being simply of the spotted stuff. A taffeta belt gives a finishing touch. The patterned border may appear around the hem of the skirt and following the outline of the deep panier, while the sleeves also are of the flowered band, the corsage being hidden by a fichu of lace.

OF PRETTY DESIGN.

This hat is of deep purple satin, lined with gold embroidery and with a large osprey of gold.

Bordered Fabrics.

The bordered materials are a feature of the summer's fabrics, and will be useful in designing trimmings for simply-made toilettes.

The many beautiful muslins have borders. One white muslin has a 12-inch pink border, on which are alternated lines of large and small dots embroidered in pink and white. Other muslins are to be seen in palest pink and white, and dainty white embroidered flowers scattered over the entire surface.

Some of the marquisettes and voiles are made up with their colored borders and trimmings in composed entirely of tiny drawn work stitches.

HORRORS OF PRISON TOLD

Tale of Torture in Federal Penitentiary in Kansas Is Told by Fugitive Who Surrendered.

Philadelphia, Pa.—Relating a tale of horrors of imprisonment in the federal prison at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., Andrew Tobani, 24 years old, gave himself up to the local police as a fugitive from justice. He "surrendered" at Broad street station the other evening, after the detective department had been bombarded with a number of telephone messages instructing the officials to be on the lookout for a man of Tobani's description. These messages, it was learned, were sent by Tobani himself. Upon being slated at the central station the man gave the name of William Jackson, under which he claims to have enlisted in the United States army at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, as a member of the Fifth cavalry.

It was for an offense committed while a soldier at that post that Tobani claims he was imprisoned in Fort Leavenworth, after an unfair trial, and he said his reason for asking the police, by means of the telephone calls to arrest him, was to expose the indignities to which he had been subjected as a prisoner.

According to Tobani's story, he escaped from the prison three months ago in a swill barrel after serving part of a sentence for the theft of an automatic pistol, which he was charged taking from a fellow cavalryman in Texas. He claims that he was railroaded and he did not have time to procure adequate counsel to show that the trial sprang from a trumped up charge.

In Fort Leavenworth, Tobani says, the water cure, the straightjacket and other forms of torture were employed to compel the prisoners to perform allotted tasks. At last, the man asserted he gained the acquaintance and friendship of the driver of a garbage wagon which came daily to the prison doors, and between them the plot was hatched whereby Tobani escaped in a swill barrel.

RISKS LIFE TO SAVE CHILD

Young Baseball Player Performs Heroic Deed at Florence, New Jersey.

Florence, N. J.—Leon Horner, fast young infielder of the local baseball team, is hailed as hero for a bit of sheer daring and risk of his life in saving little Loretta Bains from sure death under the wheels of a shifting engine at the R. D. Wood iron foundries, where he is employed. Horner was riding on the footboard at the front of the engine when he saw the child just ahead on the tracks apparently rooted to the spot in her terror. By a powerful dash he outdistanced the engine, and reaching the frightened child tossed her from the track. At the same instant his feet slipped and he tumbled head first between the rails. Unable even with the emergency brakes to instantly stop the heavy train, the engineer saw Horner rolled under the footboard, which in a shifting engine replaces the cow-catcher, and as he brought the train to a standstill, dropped in terror from the cab, expecting to find the young hero mangled beneath the wheels.

Horner was far from dead, however. By a deft movement, as the locomotive rolled him over and over, he had managed to grab the running board, and with his body dragged beneath the trucks he held on as the engine bumped him over the ties. When they extricated him fellow workmen found his legs badly lacerated and his ankles sprained, but aside from these injuries, which Horner mourns because they will keep him from the baseball diamond for several weeks, he was unhurt.

Interesting Relics Belonging to Founder of State Discovered by Workmen in Rhode Island.

Providence, R. I.—The pantry of the home of Roger Williams, founder of the state of Rhode Island, is believed to have been uncovered by workmen in excavating near the place where a big fireplace, which authorities have marked as belonging to the Williams home, was discovered five years ago.

Dishes and crockery of various sizes and styles, together with bones believed to be human, were unearthed by diggers.

They broke many of the articles before they realized the possible importance of their find.

DISPLAYS FOR WOMEN

RICH EXHIBITS FOR THESE LOYAL FRIENDS OF STATE FAIR.

Band Concerts, Parades, Great Show of Needlework, Decorated China, Pictures, Table Luxuries For Week of Sept. 2.

There are thousands of Hoosier women who make Indiana State Fair week their vacation time, laying aside home work for a pleasure trip to the exposition, not only to enjoy the entertainment that is offered there, but to gather up ideas which they can apply to their affairs at home. To these women the exposition is a source of rest and refreshment as well as education and inspiration. For nearly sixty years the women of Indiana have been constant in their loyalty and attendance upon the fair, and in anticipation of the feminine visitors coming to the exposition during the week of Sept. 2, the management is preparing a great feast of enjoyment for them. It is difficult to single out any one division of the exposition and say that it is most attractive to the women. They are to be found in crowds in all portions of the grounds. They enjoy the band concerts, the races, the fruit, flower, poultry, dairy, horse and other shows. They swarm through the "midway," with its carnival shows, thousands of women line the route of the live stock parades through the fair grounds.

But if there are one or two points where the women concentrate most of their interest it is in the fine arts building and around the show of table luxuries in Horticultural hall. The Indiana fair has become far famed for its displays of decorated china and needlework. It is doubtful if any exposition annually held in America can rival the Indiana fair in those two lines of feminine taste and industry. The show of needlework is very wide in variety, ranging from old-fashioned quilts, such as the grandmothers of other days patiently patched and stitched, to the "last word" in infants' wear, shawls of today's creation, and fancy work of many kinds which grace the modern home. The show of china comes from the gifted hands of the best Indiana artists, who are without superiors in their especial line. Pictures in oils, water colors and photography, leather and brass work, and other lines of artistic endeavor as followed by talented women go to enrich the fine arts exposition of the Indiana fair. There is every promise that this division of the exposition will, as it does every year, crowd the big building assigned to it to overflowing.

Indiana women who are highly gifted in the culinary art are, through their displays of table luxuries, always much in evidence at the Indiana fair, and will be again at the coming exposition. The Hoosier women who send their jellies, jams, breads and cakes, spiced fruits and candies, long ago won distinction at the state fair as genuine artists, and there is always very sharp rivalry for the prize ribbons that are awarded at the Hoosier exposition, as well as great crowds of women to see these products of the Hoosier mothers.

The total prize awards offered in the fine arts and table luxury departments of the coming fair amount to over $1,900.

The entries to all classes of the state fair close on August 17. This early date is necessary that an immense amount of clerical work may be completed by the secretary. The award book must be made up, the live stock entries must be classified and the prize money must be distributed before the fair opens on Sept. 2.

CONGRESS IS ON ITS FINAL WEEK

Adjournment Will Come Saturday, Leaders Say.

PROGRAM NOW WELL IN HAND

Only One Thing Now Stands in Way of Plans For Adjournment, and That Is the Hitch on the Legislative Bill Which the President Vetted on Account of Riders, but Leaders Think They Will Get Around This.

Washington, Aug. 19.—Declaring that the business now in hand can be dispatched by Friday or Saturday at the latest, leaders in congress are planning to adjourn the two houses the latter part of this week. Four appropriation bills are still on the docket, but it is the general expectation that all of them will be out of the way Thursday. The legislative bill, which was vetoed by the president last week, may interfere with adjournment plans, but the leaders are not apprehensive on this score.

The Panama canal bill, as agreed upon by conferees of the senate and house, was passed by the house again by a viva voce vote. As passed, the bill, which provides for the government and administration of the canal, contains provisions for the passage of American coastwise vessels through the canal free of tolls and the admission of ship building material to the canal zone free of duty. The bill already has passed the senate and it now goes to the president for his signature.

President Taft has decided to sign the Panama canal bill if congress will pass a concurrent resolution providing that no provision of the bill shall supersede any right conferred under the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. If the president ascertains that such a resolution cannot be put through congress there is some doubt as to what he will do with the bill.

The house voted down, 150 to 79, a proposal by Representative Foss of Illinois, Republican, for two battleships in the pending naval appropriation bill. The bill was sent back to conference with tacit instructions that the senate's compromise of one battleship be accepted.

A SECOND TRIAL

Another Indictment Confronts Darrow, Acquitted at Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 19.—Clarence S. Darrow, the Chicago lawyer, who was found not guilty of the charge of having bribed a prospective juror in the McNamara case, must stand trial on a second indictment, according to an announcement made by District Attorney Fredericks, immediately after the acquittal.

Mr. Darrow's attorneys expressed incredulity when informed that there would be a trial on the Juror Bain indictment. They asserted that all of the evidence in the Bain case had been submitted in the trial just ended.

This Woman Didn't Scream.

Atlantic City, Aug. 19.—Mrs. Walter Klemm, wife of a Philadelphia banker, lay in bed and coolly watched a burglar steal jewels worth $12,000 from the apartment of her summer villa rather than chance injury to her husband by waking him. She waited until she was sure the burglar had left the house before arousing Mr. Klemm. He organized a posse of cottagers and searched the neighborhood, all to no avail.

"HONEST JOHN" KELLY.

Gotham Gambler Says He Quits Because of Rosenthal Murder.

New York, Aug. 19.—"Honest John" Kelly is one of the New York gamblers who is mixed up in the investigation of the graft charges in connection with the Rosenthal case. Graft collecting became so bold that the proprietors of gambling houses paid at times by check. Some of these checks are being traced. One is said to have been drawn to Becker's order for $2,500, signed by Kelly. This check is alleged to bear the indorsement of a man high in the police department. Kelly is said to have left for Canada, declaring he was through with the game.

TURKS AROUSED BY ALBANIAN TROUBLE

Will Not Temporize With Rebels Any Longer.

Constantinople, Aug. 19.—After seeming to have been overcome by recent concessions by the Turks, the Albanian trouble has flamed up again and the situation is apparently more serious than ever. It is stated that 12,000 Albanians have seized Uskub and are preparing to march on Salonica. A detachment of 3,000 has advanced as far as Kuprili, which has been occupied.

The rebels opened the prisons at Uskub and liberated thousands of the inmates, the authorities not daring to interfere. Forced contributions were levied on the inhabitants.

The object of the advance on Salonica is alternately explained as an attempt to force the government to grant all the demands of the rebels, some of which, it may be recalled, were refused, or the determination to release former Sultan Abdul Hamid, who is a prisoner there. The government, it is reported, has resolved not to temporize with the rebels any further, and has telegraphed the military commanders to oppose their advance.

PLEADED GUILTY

WILL SOON KNOW OF NOMINATION

Big Crowd Will Tell Marshall All About It.

PARKER TO MAKE THE SPEECH

Former Candidate For President Will Notify Democratic Nominee For Vice President of Action of Baltimore Convention, and Governor Marshall Will Make His Address of Acceptance at University Park.

Indianapolis, Aug. 19.—At 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon Gov. Marshall will be notified that he is the choice of the Democracy of the United States for vice president. The ceremonies attendant on the notification will bring to Indianapolis one of the most notable gatherings of Democrats from all parts of the country that ever has assembled in the state. Judge Alton B. Parker, chairman of the notification committee, will deliver the address which will tell the Hoosier governor he is the choice of his party as running mate for Woodrow Wilson. Thomas Taggart, national committee man from Indiana, will introduce Judge Parker to the gathering that will assemble for the notification. Judge Parker's speech will be followed by Governor Marshall's formal address of acceptance.

A feature of the ceremonies will be a parade, starting from the Denison hotel, following the luncheon to be given distinguished guests by Thomas Taggart. The parade will consist of automobiles, bearing the members of the national committee, the notification committee and others. It will make the round of the downtown streets and wind up at the speakers' stand at Vermont and Meridian streets, facing from the Indiana Democratic club, and overlooking University park, where the crowd will assemble. The stage will contain only the notable Democrats and guests who have been invited to attend.

Following the notification the distinguished guests will be taken for half an hour's automobile ride through the city, and then a reception will be given by Governor and Mrs. Marshall at their home. Besides the candidates for governor of all parties in Indiana, state chairmen and other organization officials of all parties and Democratic organization officers from all parts of the state will attend the notification.

A PLOT, HE SAYS

Reform Mayor of West Hammond Denies Graft Charges.

Hammond, Ind., Aug. 19.—K. M. Woscynski, mayor of West Hammond, who was elected on a reform ticket supported by Miss Virginia Brooks, the "Joan of Arc" of that community, has been arrested on charges of accepting a bribe and assault and battery.

The warrant for the mayor was sworn out by George Rosenbaum, proprietor of a hotel which was closed on an order of the mayor. Rosenbaum stated that the "reform" mayor agreed to protect him for a consideration of $40 a month. The keeper of the rooming house further stated that he paid Mayor Woscynski $40 on July 5 and a similar amount July 31. He stated that he also gave a diamond ring to Mrs. Woscynski and a diamond ring to the mayor's son.

Complaints were made by Miss Brooks and other residents that the hotel, which opened only a few weeks ago, was being used for immoral purposes. The mayor denied it.

When Constable Bering informed him that he had a warrant for him, the mayor punched him on the nose and produced a revolver. The constable is sixty-six years old but he clinched with the mayor and took the weapon away from him. The mayor was released on bonds of $5,000 and the preliminary hearing will be held Wednesday. "This is a plot, the mayor asserted. 'I never accepted money from this man.' The mayor owns a saloon in West Hammond.

CHINA IS AGITATED OVER YUAN'S ACTION

New President Is In Danger of Impeachment.

London, Aug. 19.—The whole of China is convulsed, says the Pekin correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, over the recent execution at Pekin of two generals who were suspected of being in a conspiracy to start a new revolution.

It is understood that the advisory council will attempt to impeach Yuan Shih Kai, who is so convinced of the possibility of his assassination that he has surrounded himself with throngs of troops so that access to him is impossible.

The turning point in the life of the republic, according to the correspondent, has arrived. Yuan Shih Kai cannot much longer delay showing his real hand.

The correspondent, in giving the details of the seizure and execution of General Chang, says "that there was something curiously devilish in the manner in which it was carried out."

Got the Wrong Man.

Vienna, Aug. 19.—There was a sensational crime at the cathedral here Sunday just prior to the celebration of high mass. The clergy were on their way to the cathedral in their canonicals when a young man darted into the crowd and stabbed Suffragan Bishop Pflueger in the back. The bishop dropped to the street, his vestments dyed with blood. The assassin was seized by onlookers. He told the police later that he intended to stab Cardinal Nagel, but somebody pointed out the wrong man to him. The stabbed is an escaped lunatic named Prinz. The bishop's wounds are not dangerous.

She Meant Business.

El Paso, Tex., Aug. 19.—Riding up before the police station in Juarez, a woman, said to be the wife of Colonel Alanis, now operating with a rebel band near Palomas, covered the acting chief of police with a Winchester, commanded him to give up his rifle and six-shooters, and seized half a dozen horses standing in front of the station. Mrs. Alanis was accompanied by several unarmed rebels and the party escaped to the mountains.

He Was Too Officious.

Indianapolis, Aug. 19.—Hawley T. Pringle aroused suspicion when he talked too much about the robbery of a drug store, and was arrested charged with burglary. He offered to assist the officers on the case. Seventy-five pennies and two nickels taken from the cash register in the drug store were found by the detectives burned in the rear of Pringle's home.

PENROSE GOING TO FIGHT IT OUT

Pennsylvania Senator Restive Under Accusation.

ROOSEVELT'S NAME MENTIONED

Stir Has Been Created at Washington by Disclosure of Alleged Relations Between Senator Penrose and the Standard Oil Company in 1904 and Possibility That ex-President Roosevelt's Name May Enter the Inquiry.

Atlantic City, Aug. 19.—With not only state but national leaders, Senator Penrose had a lengthy conference here, and to his most trusted lieutenants gave directions for counteracting the attempt which he admits is to be made by William Flinn to have him impeached in the United States senate.

After the conference Senator Penrose announced that he was ready to meet the charge and defied anyone to lay the case before the senate committee of which Senator Moses Clapp is chairman. He said that he welcomed the opportunity, as certain of the progressive leaders had sought to attack his integrity and involve him in a deal with the corporations that showed he had been party to corrupt practices.

When asked why he declined to give out the details of the expenditure of the money, the senator said: "If I am called to the bar of the senate to answer the accusation against me would it be right to expose my defense before I was charged with the act which is hinted at? I am ready to answer at any time the accusation and I defy anyone to say that I ever used corporation money for any purpose."

"I will say, however, that from what I recall of the incident, that most of this money went to the treasurer of the Republican campaign committee and that the greater part of it was used in carrying New York state for Roosevelt in the presidential campaign in 1904."

"I only want someone to make the direct accusation that I had anything to do with spending this money or any portion of it. Whoever does will find that they have made the most serious blunder, and I welcome an investigation."

ROOSEVELT'S NAME

May Be Drawn Into Disclosures if Penrose Follows Plan.

Washington, Aug. 19.—The news that Roosevelt's name may be drawn into the disclosures in regard to the $25,000 contribution made by John D. Archbold of the Standard Oil company to Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania in 1904, caused a stir here. The Pennsylvania senator has not returned from Philadelphia, but his friends contend that Colonel Roosevelt had knowledge of the fund that Penrose was raising. Penrose's friends added that the money was used chiefly in pushing the presidential candidacy of Mr. Roosevelt.

It will be recalled that the campaign of 1904 was enlivened at one stage by a charge made by Judge Parker, the Democratic nominee, that the Republican national committee was receiving large contributions from the trusts. President Roosevelt was thrown into a rage by Parker's charge and dared him to make good. Parker's friends have contended since that he had information in his possession at the time, but that he was obliged to withhold it on account of Daniel S. Lamont refusing to release him from a pledge of confidence.

Friends of Senator Penrose said that if he speaks out in regard to the Archbold fund there will undoubtedly be a fine rumormongering between him and the colonel. It has only been within comparatively recent years that Senator Penrose has been emphatically branded as a "bad boss" by Colonel Roosevelt.

Senator Penrose's trip to Philadelphia had to do, it is said, chiefly with collecting data bearing on this Archbold contribution. Prior to his departure for Philadelphia, Senator Penrose made up his mind to give the details in regard to the campaign fund of 1904 in Pennsylvania. After his return he will hold another conference with his friends, and if he adheres to the plan which he had when he left Washington he will make a statement.

Progressives Denounce Penrose.

Pittsburg, Aug. 19.—Roosevelt leaders in Pittsburg back of the plan to institute impeachment proceedings against Senator Boies Penrose because of the Archbold Standard Oil letter exposures, used the short and ugly word in discussing Penrose's reported plan to explain the receipt of money from Archbold on the theory that he got it to use in Roosevelt's fight for re-election in 1904. They declare it is the explanation of a man heading for any port in a storm.

Peace Negotiations Begun.

Brigadier General William Crozier, U. S. A., chief of the bureau of ordnance, has been selected to succeed Brigadier General A. L. Mills as president of the army war college.

PLAN TO REACH THE SMALL CONTRIBUTOR

New Scheme Proposed for Raising Campaign Funds.

New York, Aug. 19.—This week every bank and trust company in the United States will get from William G. McAdoo, vice chairman of the Democratic national committee, a letter asking its officers to accept campaign contributions, not only for the Democratic party, but for the Republicans and Progressives also. Along with the letter which McAdoo sent, went a letter from Governor Wilson in which the governor said that to "bring about the election of a president through a campaign financed by popular subscriptions would be a distinct and gratifying triumph."

McAdoo thinks that his idea will go a long way toward eliminating the evil of large campaign contributions from corporations and others who would have favors to ask in case the contribution helps a party into power. It is no new thing, as was pointed out, for parties to appeal to the voters for contributions, but McAdoo thinks that it will be easier for individual voters to give money in small sums through their banks than to send it in checks or money orders through the mails. He figures that there will be more small contributors than ever before.

Mr. McAdoo's letter plainly asks the banks and trust companies: "Will you agree to receive and transmit subscriptions to the Democratic national committee and the Progressive national committee? Speaking for the Democratic national committee, I would not ask you to act for one unless for all. It would be a patriotic service to the public and not to any one party."

Not Permanently Injured. Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 19.—Nat C. Goodwin, the veteran actor, who was crushed on the rocks at Santa Monica by the overturning of a rowboat, is not permanently injured, as was believed. A thorough examination of Mr. Goodwin was made, and it was found that no bones were broken and there were no serious internal injuries. The physicians declared that there were no grounds for the apprehension that Mr. Goodwin would lose the use of his legs. He will be sitting up in another day, and will be able to be out in two weeks.

BREAKING PARTY TIES.

The breaking of party ties is by far too serious a move to be decided upon a moment's notice especially when that decision is based largely upon sentiment and upon the political idolatry of one man. Before a voter leaves the party with which he has been affiliated for many years, who believes in its principles of government and who has been accorded prosperity under its administration, he should think deliberately and seriously and feel assured in his own mind that the new organization will work to his own interest better than the party to which he belongs.

Viewed from all standpoints there seems to be no good reason why any republican should take up or even countenance any new organization. The republican party has always stood for advancement and progress and has since its organization proceeded upon the theory that all men are created free and equal. It is the party of Lincoln, Grant and McKinley, and there has never been a republican administration in which the country has not made a marked advancement in all lines of government. It is the party of the people, founded upon the theory that the nation will best progress when the best interests of the people are protected. It is the party that placed all mankind upon the equal basis of freedom and liberty and gave thousands of working men employment after several years of panic and financial depression of the worst character. What the republican party has done for the farmer is well known. By carrying out the principle of protection it has brought about better prices for farm products with the natural result of increased land values.

The republican party has always been the party of the veteran. It has given the soldiers every line of pension legislation that has ever been placed upon the statute books. Without the republican party the soldiers' widows today would be without their present pension income. It has always watched, guided and protected the interests of the veteran and will continue to do so as long as it remains in power. The soldiers know what the republican party has done for them, and it is fair to believe that they will have little favor for a new organization which places the Confederate veterans upon equal grounds with the Union soldiers. The veterans of the north were the ones who rallied to the flag in '61-'65, who sacrificed their lives and were willing to go to the front that the nation might be saved and the great principle of equality and freedom be established. The true patriot believes that these are the men who should receive the pecuniary aid from the government during the last years of their useful life.

The republican party is the party of patriotism, it is the party which has defended the red, the white and the blue, and it is composed of men who would fight for the sake of the nation now as willingly as they did in the early sixties in order to protect the rights of our people. There is no commendable plank in any platform which cannot be found in the republican platform. With a very few exceptions the great statesmen of America will continue to keep their lot with the country's greatest party.

The republican party is built upon a firm foundation and as it has successfully overcome the obstacles of the past it will be amply able to stand all attempts to dethrone it which may be made in the future.

In the campaign this year the farmers and the business men are confronted with the same question as in previous campaigns, viz: protection vs free trade. Under the Republican administrations of protective tariff, farm produce has advanced in price, land has doubled in value and conditions have been brought from depression to prosperity. The farmer knows what the results of free trade doctrine will be. They know by experience and consequently do not care to undergo the hardships which they will necessarily have to endure if free trade is successful. This is one of the questions which Woodrow Wilson must meet and which is giving him considerable trouble. His platform states, without qualification, what action he must follow, and there is no avenue through which he can take refuge.

SULZER BILL ESTABLISHED STANDARD APPLE BARREL

Jackson County Orchardists Will Find it Convenient to Use Barrel of Dimensions Given.

Since apple growing has received special attention in Jackson county there has been considerable said regarding the method of packing. Some of the orchardists believe that better prices could be secured by packing the boxes in crates which system has been adopted in the Western apple states and has been found most profitable. However, most of the apples in Jackson county are shipped in barrels and the growers will be interested in the following article by M. W. Richards, assistant secretary of the Indiana Apple Show Commission, in which he gives the dimensions of the standard apple barrels which is specified by the Sulzer Bill, which was recently signed by President Taft.

The article written by Mr. Richards is as follows:

Saturday, Aug. 3rd President Taft signed the Sulzer Apple Barrel Bill. This bill established a standard barrel and grade for apples when packed in barrels. The standard barrel will be of the following dimensions: length of stave, twenty-eight and one-half inches; diameter of head, seventeen and one-eighth inches; distance between heads, twenty-six inches; circumference of bulge, sixty-four inches outside measurement. It should contain as nearly as possible seven thousand and fifty-six cubic inches. The grades provided for in the bill are "U. S. Standard Minimum Size two and one-half inches"; "U. S. Standard Minimum Size two and one-fourth inches" and "U. S. Standard Minimum Size two inches."

Prof. C. G. Woodbury, Secretary of the Indiana Apple Show which is to be held in Indianapolis Nov. 13-19 says, "Indiana Growers should make every effort to acquaint themselves with the provisions of this law before July 1, 1913 when it goes into effect. The bill is not compulsory. Growers are not compelled to use the standard barrel or grades. However, the time will soon come when only apples branded as "U. S. Standard" can be sold on the open market. Just as soon as one grower packs his fruit so that it can be sold under a United States guarantee every other orchardist will be forced to it as the buyer will show preference to the branded fruit. The enforcing of this law falls under the jurisdiction of the Pure Food and Drug Act. Growers should aim to use their short measure barrels this season and only contract for Standard barrels for next season's crop."

Why the Railroads Are Hard Up.

Following is an interesting extract from an article in the September American Magazine:

"The railroad companies complain that they are hard up. They are; they are awfully hard up. Perhaps they were never so hard up before in their lives. Not because earnings have decreased; earnings have increased. Not because dividends have diminished; dividends have been trebled. Not because the margin of credit has been exhausted the margin of credit has been multiplied fourfold. The railroads are hard up because they have got to double their facilities."

"When the railroads of the United States broke down in 1907, Jim Hill said they ought to spend $700,000,000 a year for ten years to put themselves in shape. Seven billions in all. Since then some equally distinguished authority has raised it to eight billions."

"Why? Their business has been increasing nobly. Their gross earnings have risen from $8,000 per mile to $11,800 per mile. By larger cars, longer trains, heavier loading, stancher track they made their old outfit serve. But it came to a point where it did not seem to the railroad men that they could stretch that string any longer. Nothing to do but double track, double terminals, double everything. But doubling facilities does not automatically and instantaneously double the earnings. That is why the railroads were so hard up."

FINDS UNUSUAL METHOD OF TAKING AUTO RIDE

Brownstown Boy Curled Himself Inside The Big Tires on Rear of "Pathfinder."

A story of an unusual method adopted by Herman Hendricks of Brownstown in taking a ride with the four states tourists from Brownstown to Seymour has just been given out and has received much publicity.

Hendricks had heard considerable regarding the Four States tour and the big cars which would pass through Brownstown, and when he saw the big Pathfinder "40" carrying several tires on the rear he decided to become a passenger. As the car was filled with passengers he jumped upon the rear of the car and curled himself up inside of the tires. In this position he rode from Brownstown to Seymour and said that the experience was both pleasant and exciting.

A representative of the Pathfinder Company in speaking of Hendricks' ride said:

"Tourists who carry tires on brackets at the rear of their cars may unwittingly be carrying an extra passenger, if the seat is as comfortable as that discovered by young Hendricks on the Pathfinder "40" touring car. Herman was bounced over the bumps along the unimproved road between Seymour and Brownstown at a fast clip, but declares he was at no time in danger of being 'left in the lurch.'"

"Invention of the Evil One."

It has been said that backache is an invention of the evil one to try women's souls.

Not so. Backache is a symptom of some serious trouble which sooner or later declares itself, either in kidney trouble or some female derangement.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound may be relied upon to go to root of trouble and quickly relieve this most distressing symptom. Nearly forty years of unparalleled success proves its value in conquering female ills.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE

LISTEN!

The good man is a good listener. Nobody can talk. It is only the very few who know how to listen. The good listener speaks only when he has something to say. The talker says whether he says anything or not. The clever listener is deservedly popular. Most people take it as a compliment when you should give heed to them. Moreover, the good listener gets a reputation for wisdom. He is reserved in his expression and every one thinks, "If he should express himself how wise he would be." Contradictory as it may see, the good listener often is esteemed to be a good conversationalist. The volume of his conversation is not the measure of his appreciation of the deft speaker, but his quiet away saying, "It is really marvelous to converse with Mr. So and So." Take heed, and learn. When some one says something you do not quite understand just keep still and listen. Sooner or later the fluent speaker will explain himself, and you will see nothing and perhaps gain a friend. Because— Your father is likely to talk himself into an admiration of himself as a successful talker and, filling himself up with admiration, what runs over is spent in admiration of his appreciative auditor. Listen and enjoy. There are so many things in life and in nature and in men and women that you may enjoy if you are content to keep still and listen. Keep your eyes open and your mouth shut and be content to listen. Listen and smile. If some one gets mad and says mean things or any things keep still, smile and just listen. The mad person or the foolish person will soon get tired and quit. Listen for the harmonies. The world is full of harmonies if your ear is properly attuned. The good listener turns his deaf ear to discords. He hears the harmony that is denied the glib and the loquacious. There is a time to talk. But mostly the time is to incline your ear and listen. Old papers, good for a score of uses about the house, for sale cheap, at the Republican office. d&w-tf

SCROFULOUS TROUBLES

No truth is more forcibly manifested in physical life than the old saying "like begets like;" for just as the offspring of healthy ancestry are blessed with pure, rich blood insuring good health, so the children of blood-tainted parentage inherit a polluted circulation which fosters a chain of scrofulous troubles. The usual sign of a scrofulous inheritance are swollen glands about the neck, weak eyes, pale, waxy complexions, sores and ulcers and general poor health. These symptoms are most often manifested in early life, though sometimes maturity is reached before the trouble breaks out. Treatment should be commenced at the first indication of Scrofula for it may get beyond control if allowed to run unchecked. S. S. S. is the very best treatment for Scrofula. It renovates the circulation and drives out all scrofulous matter and deposits. S. S. S. goes to the bottom of the trouble and removes the cause and cures the disease. Then it supplies the weak, blood with healthful properties. S. S. S. is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks, and is an absolutely safe remedy for young or old. Book on the blood and medical advice free.

OPENS WAR ON RATS

Chicago Health Department in Campaign of Extermination.

Decision Follows Publicity Showing What a Menace and Expense Rodents Are—Do Much Harm and No Good.

Chicago.—Sentence of death was passed recently on Chicago's rats. A series of articles, recently pointed out what a great source of danger and loss rats are, and now the city is to be freed from the rodent pests. The department of health will take the role of modern pied piper in performing the task.

Announcement of this intention was made by Commissioner of Health George B. Young in the course of the few hours he was in the city to aid the pure milk fight. Conferences in Washington with federal health officials concerning the rat peril were interrupted to enable him to return to Chicago. He was hurrying back to continue his investigations in the east, but he paused long enough to discuss the plans for routing the rat from Chicago.

The danger, remote but too great to be ignored, that the rodents may spread the bubonic plague, is the immediate cause for the campaign of extermination that is to be waged.

The first step, according to Dr. Young, will be to put the rats of the city through an examination for their health. The docks and wharves, as the most fertile breeding places for them, will be visited first. According to the studies made of the bubonic plague, it has been present in virulent form among the rats before it has been communicated to human beings.

The health department men will search for evidences of the disease among rats of all quarters of the city, and if any traces of it are found their efforts will be concentrated in exterminating the rats in that vicinity.

After concern regarding the plague has been satisfied, the department will turn its attention to a general extermination. The rat population of Chicago is set at about half the number of inhabitants, and it is considered that so long as the city is so thickly infested with the rodents it is in danger of disease.

Relief from the immense property damage inflicted by the rats each year will be secondary in the department's consideration, as its duties are primarily those of guarding the city's health. It is considered, however, that this will be an immediate benefit that will be more generally felt than the safety it will give from spread of disease.

CONVICTS RULED BY HONOR

Chains and Shackles Abolished by New System in Georgia Felon Camp.

Cartersville, Ga.—Instead of chains, shackles and armed guards, the "honor system" is being used to control the fifty convicts in the Bartow county camp, and it is proving a success.

Six months ago Warden Land, in charge of the camp, in an address to the convicts, notified them that he intended to abolish chains and shackles and put them on their honor, and that he expected them to make good. The system was at once put into effect, and the warden's confidence has not been abused. Not only has there not been a single escape from the works upon which the men have been employed, but there has never been a complaint of escape. The men are so satisfied that they strive in every way to justify the confidence placed in them. Whenever a convict breaks any rule he is punished by his fellows after trial.

Warden Land has some advanced ideas as to treatment of prisoners. He thinks chains and shackles are barbarous, and believes the day will come when the "honor system" will prevail in all prisons.

KANSAS WOMEN BUILD ROAD

Break Rock With Sledge Hammers and Unload Road Material for Indifferent Men.

Leana, Kan.—Women wielded sledge hammers to break rock for the building of 800 feet of roadway here. Undaunted by the refusal of the men of the town to take up the work of building the thoroughfare, the women enlisted the aid of small boys and unemployed men of neighboring towns, paying the visitors for their work out of their "allowances." A number of the women also put on "jumpers" and helped unload wagons containing the road material obtained in the vicinity.

CUPID WON'T ACCEPT NAME

Swain With Too Many Syllables Wants Large Amount Pruned Off.

St. Louis, Mo.—Louis Kühlenengelken filed a petition in the circuit court asking permission to change his name. He asserts that his fiancée refuses to be afflicted with an unpronounceable name.

Another reason is that he wants to register and vote at the coming election, and thinks it would be easier to do this if his name was shorter.

As a brief and pronounceable name he suggests the last three syllables of his present one, and in future he would be known as "Louis Engelken."

OWES $164 BILL 50 YEARS

Descendants of Peter Deel Try in Vain to Collect Sum Long Due From Government.

Washington.—Peter Deel's descendants, who are numerous in the Second congressional district of Mississippi, had high hopes this year of getting the $164.47 which the government has owed them for more than fifty-one years. The amount has been due ever since those days when Mr. Deel carried mail for the United States government at a salary of $32.89 a month. The government does not deny the money is due. The only hitch is that congress fails to appropriate it.

Mr. Deel tried to collect it when he was alive and then bequeathed it to his heirs. This year Congressman Hubert D. Stephens, in whose district the Deel heirs have multiplied to considerable voting strength, started unraveling the red tape tied to the Deel pittance. The treasury department sent a letter acknowledging the debt, the house claims committee approved it, the house passed the appropriation bill in which it was included and it went to the senate.

The senate committee had no fault to find with the claim. It did have esthetic rules, however, which could not be violated. The Deel claim was in a bill which settled a dozen other claims, each of which was for personal injuries. The senate committee decided that a plodding mailman did not harmonize with hands dynamited off on the Panama canal, feet scalded on revenue cutters, heads cracked at barracks and similar greswome exhibits, and chucked the Deel claim out July 16. The heirs can start again next year.

SAYS ARK EXCELLED TITANIC

Dr. Ely, in Sermon to Shipbuilders, Says Noah Was Wiser Than Modern Marine Engineers.

Philadelphia, Pa.—Rev. Dr. James B. Ely told a large audience at the Lemon Hill religious services that Noah built better than the men who constructed the Titanic. The rain did not interfere with the services. Having decided that the music pavilion was too damp, Dr. Ely and his congregation held their service on the piazza of the historic mansion house.

"Noah's ship was constructed according to God's plan, and therefore perfectly served the purpose of saving man and beast for 150 days against the world's greatest flood," said Dr. Ely. "The Titanic was built by scientific men, according to the most improved plans, to serve the desires of those who could pay most, but it did not last five days on a comparatively calm sea."

"Sincerity in religion will not in itself save a man. He who drinks poison instead of pure water will die, no matter how sincere he may be. If a man's religion does not save him from sin it becomes to him a mere castle of lies. Any religion that does not break the power of sin is a deception, and is in itself sinful."

More than a score of stalwart workers from Cramps' shipyard attended the service with their families. The musical features included singing by the Lemon Hill chorus, the male chorus, under Dr. George Conquest Anthony, and the children's chorus, under the leadership of Charles P. Allen. Prof. Francis H. Green of West Chester was the speaker at the evening service.

ELOPED IN THREE GOWNS

Outside One Was Girl's "Nightie," and She Flew It to New York.

Scranton, Pa.—Nelson Peck, twenty-one-year-old son of President William H. Peck of the Third National bank, eloped with Miss Martha Richmond, aged nineteen, daughter of Marion F. Richmond, a barber. The girl's parents objected to their daughter's marriage to the bank president's son, and it was to overcome their objection that the elopement was planned.

The girl went to bed with two dresses on, drawing her nightgown over these. She still had the nightgown on when she arrived with young Peck in a big touring car at the Lackawanna station.

They missed a train from Detroit and their baggage, which had been smuggled down earlier, went on without them. They took the next train, which happened to be going to New York. The bride left a note for her mother, saying she "was going with Nelson."

PREDICTS HIS OWN FUNERAL

Kentuckian Then Gets Fractured Skull in a Runaway While Returning From Burial.

Louisville, Ky.—"The next funeral you attend probably will be mine; I don't expect to be with you much longer," were the last words spoken by William G. Mulholland, before he was fatally hurt in a runaway accident while returning from a funeral here. When the horses started to run, Mr. Mulholland, who is 68 years of age, jumped from the carriage and suffered a fractured skull. The other occupants of the carriage were injured only slightly.

TO CUT NOTED TREES

Sycamores Planted by Hamilton Must Be Removed.

At This Place the Great Federalist's Seconds Met to Make Plans for His Fatal Duel With Aaron Burr.

New York.—The announcement that the three tall sycamore trees which stand in a vacant lot at West One Hundred and Fortieth street and Hamilton place, Manhattan, were about to be cut down to make room for a public school, which is to be erected on the lot, has aroused much interest among New Yorkers, especially those who are familiar with the historic associations which these trees of the forest recall.

It is stated on good authority that it was under these trees that the seconds for Alexander Hamilton met before the fatal duel which resulted in the death of Hamilton on July 12, 1804. Whether they are the actual trees under which the seconds met before the fatal encounter occurred, they have a historic value from the fact that they are on territory which was intimately associated with the great statesman, lawyer and soldier.

An interesting fact connected with the house when it stood on the other side of the street is that Hamilton planted 13 trees around this house, which were intended to represent the 13 original states of the American Union. These trees were of the sweet gum variety and were brought by Hamilton, when they were nothing more than whips, from Mount Vernon, the estate of President Washington. These trees lived until long after the house was moved, and some of them were alive when, in November, 1911, the lots where they stood were taken as the site for a row of apartment houses.

The ground along Convent avenue had been restricted for 25 years. When these restrictions expired the trees planted by Hamilton himself quickly disappeared. The removal of these trees rendered those at One Hundred and Fortieth street and Hamilton place all the more precious in the eyes of antiquarians and patriotic citizens, who treasure every reminder of Hamilton.

The ground slopes sharply from the point where the old trees are standing to the shores of the Hudson. The rear porch of Hamilton's house must have commanded a beautiful view of the Weehawken shore, much wilder in appearance than now. It was early in July that the challenge from Burr was received, and it was the morning of the 12th of that month that the arrangements were completed and Hamilton and his seconds took a barge and were rowed across the Hudson to the fatal battleground.

BOYS FIND WHITE QUAIL

Birds Supposed to Be Extinct Still Live in Colorado, According to Photograph.

Grand Junction, Colo.—Boy scientists, whose love for outdoor life and wild animals has been cultivated by the Y. M. C. A. in a special course of study during the past few months, have discovered a lost species of quail through their remarkable work with kodaks.

In an excursion to the Pinon mesa, two of the boys last March accomplished a wonderful feat in photography, when they succeeded in taking the picture of two snow white birds. They developed the picture and sent it to an eastern museum, where the birds were identified as members of a species of mountain quail which had long been thought extinct. The birds change to brown in the summer.

The young naturalists are continuing their work with the kodak, and have organized a society to discourage the use of firearms among boys and young men.

POLICE PICK WRONG NAGS

Only Two of Gotham Gambling Squad Won With City Money While Seeking Evidence.

New York.—Not all policemen lose their bets every time they put down money in an effort to get evidence against a gambling house. Comptroller Prendergast had about concluded from the police expense vouchers that the investigators had a habit of always backing the wrong horse, but his assistants in going through the latest collection of vouchers found two detectives who had actually picked winners.

The two men were Detectives Hickson and Dongale. The amount they won was $12, which was small compared with the losses shown on the vouchers of their colleagues.

The officials of the comptroller's office were so surprised to find a policeman who could pick a winner that they will submit the vouchers to the mayor with a recommendation for the promotion of Hickson and Dongale.

Army to Fight Grasshoppers

Sofia, Bulgaria.—Three infantry regiments have been called out to combat an invasion of grasshoppers which is devastating immense tracts of farming land along the Danube. With the assistance of the peasantry the soldiers are building huge bonfires, and thus they have succeeded in clearing several districts from the pest.
